Narrated by Abu Huraira (God Bless him):

The Prophet (PBUH) said:

“Allah says: ‘I will be against three persons on the Day of Resurrection: One who makes a covenant in My Name, but he proves treacherous, one who sells a free person (as a slave) and eats the price, and one who employs a laborer and gets the full work done by him but does not pay him his wages.’ “

Al-Bukhari - Ibn Majah

It was narrated from ‘Abdullah bin ‘Umar that the Prophet (PBUH) said:

“Give the worker his wages before his sweat dries.”

4. Changing the profession.

(1) Replaced upon Law No. (3) of 2014.

Chapter Four

Individual Work Relationship

Article (38)

Employment Contracts shall be in writing and ratified by the Department, and it shall be made in three copies; each party shall receive a copy, and the third copy shall be deposited with the Department.

Employment Contracts shall define the general provisions pertaining to the Work relationship between the two parties. And it shall particularly include the following data:

1. The name of the Employer and the workplace.
2. Name of the Worker, his qualification, nationality, profession, place of residence and any information deemed necessary to prove his identity.
3. Date of the Employment Contract conclusion.
4. Nature and type of Work, and the place of contracting.
5. Date of commencement of work.
6. Term of the Employment Contract, in case it is a fixed-term contract.
7. Wage agreed on by the two parties, method and date of payment thereof.

In case the Employment Contract is not in writing, the Worker may prove the Work relationship and the rights arising therefrom by all means of evidence.

Article (39)

It may be stipulated in the Employment Contract that the Worker shall be subject to a probation period that both parties agree upon, provided that the probation period does not exceed six months from the date of commencement of the work.

The Worker shall not be subject to more than one probation period with the same Employer.

The Employer may terminate the Employment Contract within the probation period if he finds out that the Worker is unfit to carry out his duties, provided that the Employer notifies the Worker thereof at least three days before the termination date of the contract.

Article (40)

If it is a fixed-term contract, the duration of the Employment Contract shall not exceed five years, and such duration may be renewed to similar duration / durations upon the agreement of the two parties.

If the contract is not renewed and the two parties continued in execution thereof without an explicit agreement after the expiration of its duration, the contract shall be deemed renewed for an indefinite duration with the same conditions provided therein, and the renewal duration shall be deemed as an extension of the previous duration, and the service of the Worker shall be counted from the date of commencement of work with the Employer for the first time.

Article (41)

If the Employment Contract subject is to carry out a specific Work, such contract shall end by the execution thereof. If the Work is renewable by its nature, and the execution of contract continues after the end of the agreed on Work, the contract shall be deemed renewed for a similar duration with the agreement of the two parties.

Article (42)

The Worker shall abide by the following:

1. Performing the Work by himself and exercising the care expected from the usual person in his performance.
2. Obeying the Employer's orders regarding the execution of the Work when they do not include what contravenes the Employment Contract or the law, and that there is nothing in the obedience thereof that may expose him to danger.
3. Not working for others, whether with or without a Wage.
4. Maintaining anything in his possession or at his disposal such as raw materials, production means, products, or others, and that he shall take the necessary measures to safeguard and maintain them.

5. Implementing the safety and professional health instructions prescribed in the Establishment.
6. Providing assistance to prevent disasters in the Workplace or to remove the effects that might result thereof.
7. Working continuously on developing his skills and experiences professionally and culturally in accordance with the regulations and procedures which the Employer sets out in collaboration with the competent authorities and within the limits of the available capabilities.
8. Nondisclosure of the secrets of the Work even after the expiration of the contract.
9. Not using the Work tools outside the workplace, except with the permission of the Employer and keeping such tools in the places designated thereto.
10. Not accepting gifts, rewards, commissions or amounts in respect of the performance of his duties other than from the Employer.
11. Returning anything in his possession or at his disposal such as tools or unconsumed materials upon the expiration of the contract.

Article (43)

Any condition stated in the Employment Contract, even if the contract is made prior to the enforcement date of this Law, shall be deemed null and void if it includes an undertaking from the Worker to work for lifetime with the Employer, or abstain from carrying out for lifetime any other craft or profession that could be practised after leaving the employment.

If the nature of the Work enables the Worker to know the clients of the Employer or the secrets of the business of the Establishment, the Employer may require that the Worker shall not compete with him or participate in any competing project after the expiration of the Contract. The validity of such condition shall be confined in terms of its duration, and place and type of Work to the extent necessary for the protection of the lawful interests of the Employer, and that the duration of such obligation shall not exceed two years.

Article (44)

The Employer shall enable the Worker to perform the Work and provide all the necessary requirement therefor and if the Worker attends the workplace and is ready to do the work but he fails to do so for reasons beyond his control, he shall be deemed to have actually done the Work and he shall be entitled to the benefits accruing therefrom.

Article (45)

The Employer shall not ask the Worker to perform the Work other than the Work agreed upon unless it is for the prevention of an accident or correction of the consequences therefrom, or in the case of a force majeure, while giving the Worker the rights resulting therefrom.

An exception to that, the Employer may ask the Worker to perform a Work other than the Work agreed upon if it is a Temporary Work or if such a Work is not substantially different from the original Work and the assignment thereof does not entail any abuse to the Worker, and provided that the Worker's Wage shall not be reduced.

Article (46)

The Employer who employs ten or more Workers shall develop a regulation to regulate the Work in the Establishment. Such regulation and the amendments thereof shall come into force only after being submitted to the Department for approval. If the Department does not approve it within a month from the date of its submission, the regulation shall be deemed approved.

The regulation shall be posted in a prominent place in the Establishment in order to be seen by all Workers, and the regulation shall be enforceable against them only after the elapsing of fifteen days from the date of its announcement. The Minister may issue by an order thereof the form of such labour regulations as a guidance to the Employers.

Article (47)

The Employer shall keep a specific file for each Worker in which all papers and certificates respective to the Worker shall be kept therein, along with the decisions and instructions related thereto.

The Employer shall keep such file for at least a period of one year after the date of the Worker's separation from the service therewith.

Article (48)

The Employer shall maintain the following registers:

1. The register of Workers, which particularly contains the names of the Workers, the nationality of each of them and nature of his job, the amount of his Wage, date of his commencement of Work, his marital status, academic and professional qualifications, and the leaves he gets and the sanctions imposed thereon.
2. The Wage register, where names of the Workers are listed in, in accordance with the date of commencing of the service of each of them, and the amount of the daily, weekly or monthly Wage, or piecework or production Wage and other allowances for each Worker, and the additional Wage paid to them, and the amount of deduction from the Wage, as well as the net Wage received by each of them.
3. The sanctions' outcome register, where the financial sanctions imposed on each Worker and the outcome thereof are recorded therein.
4. The Work Injury register, where the Work Injuries sustained by every Worker are recorded therein.
5. The end of service register, where the names of the Workers separated from their services, the date of their separation and the reasons thereof, and the entitlements paid to them or to their heirs shall be stated therein.

Article (49)

If the Employment Contract is an open-ended one, any of the two parties may terminate it without giving any reasons. In such case the party desiring to terminate the contract shall notify the other party in writing as follows:

- 1- As for the Workers who receive their Wages on annual or monthly basis, the notice shall be given not less than one month prior to the date of the termination if the period of service is five years or less. Where the period of service exceeds five years, the notice period shall be at least two months.
- 2- However, in the other cases, the notice shall be given on the dates set forth as follows:
 - a) If the period of service is less than one year, the notice period shall be at least one week.
 - b) If the period of service is more than one year and less than five years, the notice period shall be at least two weeks.
 - c) If the service period is more than five years, the notice period shall be at least one month.

If the contract is terminated without taking these notice periods into consideration, the terminating party shall be committed to giving a compensation equal to the Worker's Wage for the notice period or the remaining part thereof.

Article (50)

The Employer shall pay the Worker his Wage in full for the notice period set out in the previous Article if the Worker carries out his Work as usual during such period.

The Employer shall allow the Qatari Worker to absent himself from work for reasonable periods to enable him to register his name in the register of the Department in order to get a new job, and the Worker shall notify the Employer of getting the new job once he gets it and shall thereafter attend to his work till the expiration of the notice period.

Article (51)

The Worker may terminate the Employment Contract before the expiration of its duration if it is a fixed-term contract, and without notifying the Employer if it is an open-ended contract, along with reserving his full right to the end of service gratuity in any of the following cases:

- 1- If the Employer fails to fulfill his obligations prescribed upon the Employment Contract or upon the provisions of this Law.
- 2- If the Employer or his responsible director commits a physical assault or an immoral act upon the Worker or any of his family members.
- 3- If the Employer or his representative has acted fraudulently with the Worker at the time of contracting regarding the terms and conditions of the work.
- 4- If there is a serious danger threatening the safety or health of the Worker, provided that the Employer is aware of the existence of the serious danger and does not work on removing it.

Article (52)

The Employment Contract shall not be terminated in any of the following two cases:

- 1- Death of the Employer, unless the contract has been concluded for consideration related to his person or his professional activities which cease upon his death.
- 2- Merging the Establishment with another, or the transfer of its ownership or the right in its management to a person other than the Employer for any reason.

The successor shall be jointly liable with the former Employer for the fulfilment of the Worker's entitlements incurred by the latter.

Article (53)

The Employer shall upon the expiration of the contract:

- 1- Give the Worker upon his request, without any charges, a service certificate indicating the date of commencement, and the termination date of his employment, the type of Work he was performing and the amount of Wage he was receiving.
- 2- Hand over to the Worker what he deposited therewith of certificates, documents and others.

Article (54)

In addition to any amounts that are due to the Worker at separation from service, the Employer shall pay the end of service gratuity to the Worker who has completed employment of one year or more. Such gratuity shall be specified by the agreement of the two parties, provided that it is not less than the Wage of three weeks for every year of the years of his service. The Worker shall be entitled to gratuity for the fractions of the year in proportion to the duration he spent in service.

The Worker's service shall be considered continuous if it is terminated in cases other than those stipulated in Article (61) of this Law and he is reinstated within two months of the date of separation.

The calculation of the gratuity shall be based on the Worker's last Basic Wage. The Employer may deduct from the service gratuity any amount that the Worker owes him.

Article (55)

If the Worker dies during the service, regardless of the cause of death, the Employer shall deposit with the treasury of the competent court any Wage or other entitlements due to the Worker in addition to the end of service gratuity within a period not exceeding fifteen days from the date of the death, provided that the deposit minutes shall contain a detailed report indicating the method of calculating the amounts referred to. The Employer shall deposit a copy of the minutes with the Department.

The court shall distribute the deposited amounts amongst the heirs of the deceased Worker in accordance with the provisions of the Islamic Laws or the Personal Status Law applicable in the country of the deceased. If three years have elapsed from the date of depositing without the person entitled to the deposited amounts being known, the court must transfer the said amounts to the public treasury of the State.

Article (56)

The Employer maintaining a retirement system or any similar system which secures for the Worker a greater benefit than the end of service gratuity to which the Worker is entitled under the provisions of Article (54) of this Law shall not be obligated to pay the end of service gratuity in addition to the benefit he offers under the system referred to.

If the net benefit accruing to the Worker is less than the end of service gratuity, the Employer must pay to the Worker the end of service gratuity and must return to him any amount whereby the Worker might have contributed to the system referred to, and the Worker may choose between the end of service gratuity and any pension he is entitled to under such system.

Article (57)

Upon the separation of the Worker from the service, the Employer shall at his own cost return the Worker to the place from where he has recruited him at the time of joining the Work for him, or to any place agreed upon between the two parties.

The Employer shall terminate the proceedings of returning the non-Qatari Worker within a period not exceeding two weeks from the expiration date of the contract. If the Worker joins another work before his departure from the country, the obligation of returning him back to where he comes from or to any other agreed on place is transferred to the latter Employer.

The Employer shall bear the costs of processing of the corpse of the deceased Worker and transportation thereof to his country of origin or to his place of residence if his relatives so request.

If the Employer does not return the Worker or his corpse after his death, as the case may be, then the Department shall return the Worker or his corpse at the expense of the Employer and shall recover what it has spent for such purpose through the administrative way.

Chapter Five

The Disciplinary Power of the Employer

Article (58)

The Employer employing ten Workers or more shall develop a sanctions regulation that includes the violations and the disciplinary sanctions to be imposed on their perpetrators, and the conditions and procedures for the imposition thereof.

The Minister may, by a decision therefrom, issue models of the sanctions regulations in accordance with the nature of Work in the different sectors for the guidance of the Employers in the development of their respective regulations. The enforcement of the sanctions regulations and the amendments thereof shall be subject to the approval of the director of the Department within a month from the date of its submission thereto and if such period elapses without objection thereto, the regulation shall be deemed approved.

The Employer shall post the regulation at the workplace to be viewed by the Workers. The regulation shall only come into force upon the lapse of fifteen days from the date of its being posted.

Article (59)

The disciplinary sanctions which may be imposed on the Workers are:

- 1- Warning and which shall be realized upon a written communication addressed to the Worker including the violation he has committed, and asking him not to repeat such violation and warning him of a severer sanction in case of recidivism.
- 2- Deduction from the Wage of the Worker for a period not to exceed five days for each violation.
- 3- Suspension from Work along with denying the Worker's Wage for a period not to exceed five days for each violation.
- 4- Suspension from Work without pay or with a reduced Wage until deciding on the criminal charge attributed to him, and in case the innocence of Worker is established, or the case has been filed without further action, the suspension shall be deemed to have never taken place and the Worker shall be paid the entitlements due for the suspension period.

- 5- Deferment of granting the annual increment, for a period not to exceed six months or deprivation therefrom in the Establishments which maintain increments system.
- 6- Deferment of promotion for a period not to exceed one year in the Establishments which maintain promotion system.
- 7- Dismissal from Work, while reserving the rights to the end of service gratuity.
- 8- Dismissal from Work along with denying the end of service gratuity.

Article (60)

The total deduction from the Worker's Wage, as an execution of the disciplinary sanctions imposed thereon and other deductions, shall not exceed the Wage for five days per month.

The Employer shall record the total sanctions imposed on the Worker in a register of the sanctions outcome. Such register shall indicate the name of the Worker, the amount of deduction, the reason for imposing the sanction thereon, and the date thereof, provided that such register shall be subject to the supervision of the Work inspection body.

The proceeds from the deductions imposed on the Workers shall go to an entity determined by a Decision from the Minister. Such decision shall indicate the way of disposal thereof.

Article (61)

The Employer may dismiss the Worker without notice and without payment of the end of service gratuity in the following cases:

- 1- If the Worker impersonates another personality, claims a nationality other than his nationality, or presents false documents or certificates.
- 2- If the Worker commits a mistake resulting in a gross financial loss to the Employer, provided that the Employer shall notify the Department of the incident within a period not to exceed the end of the next working day after having learnt thereof.
- 3- If the Worker contravenes the instructions of the Employer in respect of maintaining the safety of the Workers and the Establishment more than once in spite of being warned in writing thereof, and provided that such instructions are written and posted in a prominent place.

- 4- If the Worker breaches his substantial obligations prescribed in the Employment Contract or upon this Law more than once in spite of addressing a written warning thereto.
- 5- If the Worker discloses the secrets of the Establishment he works for.
- 6- If the Worker is found in a state of evident drunkenness or under the influence of drugs during the working hours.
- 7- If the Worker assaults the Employer, the manager or any superiors in the Establishment, during the Work or for reason thereof.
- 8- If the Worker's assault on his colleagues is repeated in spite of being warned in writing.
- 9- If the Worker is absent from work without a legitimate reason for more than seven continuous days, or for an intermittent period of fifteen days in one year.
- 10- If the Worker is convicted by a final judgement with a crime affecting integrity and honesty.

Article (62)

In imposing the sanctions on the violating Workers, the following shall be considered:

- 1- The Worker shall not be accused of a violation that the Employer has been aware of for more than fifteen days, except the violations constituting criminal offenses.
- 2- The sanction shall not be imposed on the Worker, except for a violation that is directly related to the Work whether committed during or outside work hours, and in its place or outside.
- 3- The sanction shall be imposed on the Worker only after informing him of what he is accused of, and after conducting a written investigation with him. Such investigation may be oral in the case of minor violations that the sanctions prescribed thereto in the sanction regulation do not exceed warning or deduction not exceeding a one day Wage, provided that it shall all be established in a minutes to be deposited in his respective file.

- 4- No more than one sanction shall be imposed on the Worker per violation.
- 5- The disciplinary sanctions that the Employer is competent to impose shall be imposed only by the Employer, his authorized representative or the manager of the Establishment.
- 6- The disciplinary sanction for an act not included in the sanctions regulation shall not be imposed.

Article (63)

The Worker shall be notified of the imposed sanction thereon, and if he refuses to receive the notification, the sanction shall be posted in a prominent place in the workplace.

If the Worker is absent from work, he shall be notified of the sanction by a registered letter to his permanent address in his respective file.

Article (64)⁽¹⁾

A Worker shall, before challenging the sanction before the Labour Dispute Settlement Committee, raise his grievance to the Employer within seven days from the date of being informed thereof. The grievance shall be decided on within seven days from the date of its submission, and the lapse of such period without deciding thereon shall be deemed a rejection thereof.

In case the grievance is rejected, or if it is not decided on within the period referred to, the Worker may raise his grievance to the Department against the sanction imposed on him within seven days from the date of rejection.

The Department shall decide on the Worker's grievance within seven days from the date of its submission thereto. The Department's decision shall be final, and the lapse of such period without deciding on the grievance shall be deemed a rejection thereof.

As an exception, the Worker may challenge against the sanction of dismissal from Work before the Labour Dispute Settlement Committee.

(1) Replaced upon the Law No.(13) of 2017.

If the committee finds out that the dismissal is unfair or contravenes the provisions of this Law, the committee shall decide either to cancel the dismissal sanction and reinstate the Worker to his Work, and to be entitled to the Wage due for the period during which he is deprived of Work as an implementation of such sanction, or to compensate the Worker by a reasonable compensation. The estimation of such compensation shall include the Wage and other benefits of which he is deprived as a result of such dismissal.

Chapter Six

Wages

Article (65)

The Worker shall be entitled to the Wage specified in the Employment Contract, and if the Wage is not specified in the contract, the Worker shall be entitled to the Wage in accordance with what the labour regulation requires.

If the Wage is not specified as mentioned in the previous paragraph, the Worker shall be entitled to a Wage equivalent to the Wage specified for Work of a similar type in the Establishment, otherwise it shall be estimated according to the profession customary in the place where his Work is performed, and in the absence thereof, the judge shall estimate the Wage according to the requirements of justice.

Article (66)⁽¹⁾

All the accrued Wages and other amounts of the Worker shall be paid in the currency of Qatar.

The Wages of the Workers employed on an annual or a monthly Wage shall be paid at least once a month, and the Wages of all other Workers shall be paid once at least every two weeks.

The Employer shall transfer the Wage to the Worker's account in any financial Institution in the State, in a manner that enables its disbursement thereto on the prescribed date in accordance with the two previous paragraphs. The Employer shall be discharged from the Wage of the Worker only by doing so. The regulations necessary to protect the Wages of Workers shall be issued by a decision from the Minister.

(1) Replaced with the virtue of Law No (1) of 2015.

Article (67)

If the Employment Contract is terminated for any reason, the Employer shall pay the Wage and other amounts to which the Worker is entitled before the end of the day following the day on which the contract is terminated, unless the Worker leaves the Work without giving the notice set out in Article (49) of this Law. In this case, the Employer shall pay the Wage of the Worker and all other amounts to which he is entitled within a period not exceeding seven days from the date of leaving the Work.

Article (68)

The Employer shall pay the Worker before the Worker goes on his annual leave the Wage he is entitled to for the Work he has carried out up to the date of going on leave, in addition to the leave pay to which the worker is entitled.

Article (69)

The Worker shall not be obligated to purchase food or commodities from certain shops or from the products of the Employer.

Article (70)

Any part of the Wage to which the Worker is entitled shall not be attached or the payment thereof shall not be withheld, except for the execution of a judicial ruling.

In case of attachment in execution of a judicial ruling, the alimony debt shall have priority over all other debts, and the total of the attached amounts shall not exceed (35%) of the Wage of the indebted Worker.

The Employer shall not charge any interest on the loan he lends to the Worker, and he shall not deduct more than 10% from the Wage of the Worker as a repay of the money he may have lent him.

The total deductions from the Wage of the Worker as a repay of his deductions and debts shall not exceed (50%) of his total Wages. If the percentage which shall be deducted from the Wage of the Worker within one month exceeds this percentage, the deduction of the excess percentage shall be deferred to the following month or months.

Article (71)

If the Worker causes any loss, damage, or destruction to machinery, products or equipment of the Establishment and that is as a result of the fault of the Worker, he shall be obligated to compensate the Employer for the damage resulting therefrom, provided that the obligation of the Worker for the compensation shall be preceded by an investigation.

The Employer may deduct the value of the compensation from the Wage due to the Worker, provided that the value of the compensation does not exceed the Wage due to the Worker for seven days in a month.

The Worker may raise a grievance against the decision of the Employer's estimation of the compensation before the Department within seven days from the date of his being notified of the value of the compensation.

If the Department cancels the decision of the Employer or estimates a lesser compensation, the Employer shall return to the Worker the amount which he has deducted in excess without a right thereto within no more than seven days.

Article (72)

The Wage of the Worker during the annual or sick leave and his end of service gratuity shall be calculated on the basis of his Basic Wage on the date of entitlement, and if the Worker is employed on a piecework basis the entitlement shall be calculated on the basis of his average wages for the three months preceding the date of entitlement.

Chapter Seven

Regulation of the Working Hours and Leaves

Article (73)

The maximum limit of the normal working hours shall be forty-eight hours per week, and of eight hours a day in all the months of the year, except in the month of Ramadan where the maximum working hours shall be thirty-six hours per month of six hours per day.

The time spent by the Worker commuting between the workplace and accommodation shall not be calculated as part of the working hours.

The working hours shall include an interval or more for prayer, rest and eating, and it shall not be less than one hour and more than three hours. Such intervals shall not be included in the calculation of the working hours, and in the determination of the rest period or periods, it shall be considered that the Worker shall not work for more than five successive hours.

The Works in which the Work may continue without an interruption for the purpose of rest shall be specified by a decision issued by the Minister.

Article (74)

The Workers may be employed for extra hours in addition to the working hours specified in the preceding Article, provided that the total actual working hours per day shall not exceed ten hours, unless the Work is necessary to prevent a gross loss or dangerous accident or to repair or mitigate the effects resulting from such loss or accident.

The Employer shall pay the Workers for the additional working hours a payment that shall not be less than the payable Basic Wage for the normal working hours plus an extra pay not less than (25%) thereof.

The Employer shall also pay the Workers working between nine PM and six AM the payable Basic Wage plus a payment not less than (50%) thereof, except Workers working on shift schedules.

Article (75)

The Worker shall be given a weekly paid rest which shall not be less than twenty-four successive hours, and Friday shall be the weekly rest day for all Workers, except the Workers working on shift schedules. And If the Work conditions require the Worker to carry out the Work during the rest day, thence the Worker shall be compensated therefor with another day to rest, and shall be paid for working in such day the Wage payable to him for the normal weekly rest day or he shall be paid his payable Basic Wage plus an extra payment that shall be at least the equivalent of (150%) of his Wage.

Except Workers working on shift schedule, it is prohibited to employ the Worker for more than two successive Fridays.

Article (76)

The provisions of Articles (73), (74) and (75) of this Law shall not be applied to the persons occupying key positions if such positions allow the occupants thereof to enjoy the powers of the Employer over the Workers.

The provisions of Article (73) referred to shall not be applied to the following categories:

- 1- The Workers carrying out preparatory and complementary Works that must be carried out before or after the working time.
- 2- Security guards and cleaning Workers.
- 3- The other categories of Workers to be specified by a decision from the Minister.

The maximum limit of the working hours in such Works shall be specified by a decision from the Minister.

Article (77)

The Employer shall post, on the main gates used by the Workers in entering and in a prominent place in the workplace, a schedule stating the closing day or weekly rest day, the working hours and rest intervals for all categories of Workers and shall notify the Department with a copy of such schedule.

Article (78)

The Worker shall be entitled to an annual leave with a full Wage as follows:

- 1- Three working days on the occasion of Eid Al-Fitr.
- 2- Three working days on the occasion Eid Al-Adha.
- 3- One working day on the occasion the Independence Day.
- 4- Three working days, their dates to be specified by the Employer.

If the Work conditions require the employment of the Worker during any such leaves, the provisions of Article (74) of this Law shall be applied thereon.

Article (79)

The Worker who has completed one continuous year in the service of the Employer shall be entitled to an annual leave with the Wage set out in Article (72) of this Law. This leave shall not be less than three weeks for the Worker whose service is less than five years, and four weeks for the Worker whose service is five years or more.

The Worker shall be entitled to a leave for the fractions of the year proportionately with the period he spent in the service.

Article (80)

The Employer shall specify the date of the annual leave of the Worker in accordance with the work requirements, and he may divide the leave upon the Worker's consent, provided that such division shall not be into more than two periods.

The Employer may, upon written request of the Worker, postpone not more than half of the annual leave to the year following the year of its entitlement.

Article (81)

The Worker shall not waive his entitlement to the annual leave and any agreement to the contrary shall be null and void, and the Worker shall be entitled to receive a cash allowance equivalent to the Wage for the leave days he is entitled to if the contract is terminated for any reason before the Worker takes his leave.

Article (82)

The Worker shall be entitled to a sick leave with pay for every year of the years of his service. This sick leave shall be granted only after the lapse of three months from the date of the commencement of his work for the first time, provided that the Worker proves his sickness by a certificate from a physician approved by the Employer.

The Worker shall be paid his full Wage if the sick leave does not exceed two weeks. If the sick leave extends thereafter, the Worker shall be paid half of his Wage for other four weeks. Any further extension of the sick leave thereafter shall be without pay until the Worker resumes his work or resigns, or he is separated from service for health reasons.

The service of the Worker may be terminated at the end of the twelfth week of the sick leave if it has been proved by a report issued by the Competent Physician that the Worker is unable to resume his Work at such time.

If the Worker resigns from Work because of the sickness and with the approval of the Competent Physician before the end of the six months to which the Worker is entitled as a sick leave with pay, the Employer shall pay the Worker the balance of his entitlement. This provision shall also apply on the case of death because of sickness before the end of the mentioned six weeks.

The preceding provisions shall not prejudice the right of the Worker to the bonus to which he may be entitled to the period of his service and the Worker taking the sick leave for the period of twelve weeks shall not be deemed to constitute an interruption of his Continuous Service.

Article (83)

The Muslim Worker shall be granted a leave without pay, not more than two weeks to perform Hajj (pilgrimage) for once during the period of his service. The Employer shall specify the number of the Workers who may be granted such leave annually according to the Work requirements, and the priority shall be granted to the Worker who has been in Continuous Service for a longer period.

Article (84)

The Worker shall not, during any of his leaves, work for another Employer and if it has been proved to the Employer that the Worker has contravened this provision, he may deprive him of his Wage for the period of the leave and recover what he has already paid of that Wage.

Article (85)

The Employer shall not terminate the Employment Contract or notify the Worker of the termination thereof during any of his leaves set out in this Law. The Employer shall not also notify the Worker of the termination of the contract if the notice period expires during any of such leave.

Chapter Eight

Employment of Juveniles

Article (86)

Anyone who has not attained the age of sixteen shall not be employed in any Work and shall not be permitted to enter into any of the workplaces.

Article (87)

The Juvenile shall not be employed before the approval of his father or guardian and the issuance of a special permit thereon from the Department.

If the Juvenile is a Qatari pupil, then an approval from the Minister of Education and Higher Education shall be obtained.⁽¹⁾

The Juveniles shall not be employed in the Works which their nature and the conditions of their performance may incur damage to the health, safety or morals of the Juvenile. These Works shall be specified by a decision from the Minister.

Article (88)

The Juvenile shall be employed only after undergoing the medical examination by the Competent Medical Authority and his fitness for the Work he is intended to be in charge of is established.

The Employer shall repeat the medical examination of the Juvenile at least once a year.

Article (89)

A Juvenile shall not be employed between sunset and sunrise, on the days of rest, during the official holidays, or for more than the normal working hours, and the Juvenile shall not be retained in the workplace for more than seven continuous hours.

(1) An expression replaced upon Article (2) of the Law No.(6) of 2009.

Article (90)

The normal working hours for the Juvenile shall not exceed thirty-six hours per week, of six hours per day, except the month of Ramadan, where the working hours shall not be more than twenty-four hours per week, and of four hours per day.

The time which the Juvenile spends in commuting between his accommodation and the workplace shall not be counted in the working hours.

The working hours shall include one or more intervals for rest or eating, so that the Juvenile shall not work continuously for more than three successive hours. Such interval or intervals shall not be counted in the working hours.

Article (91)

The Employer shall keep in the file respective to the Juvenile his birth certificate, medical fitness certificate, and the certificates of the periodical medical examination conducted on him.

Article (92)

Every Employer employing a Juvenile or more shall be committed to the following:

- 1- Submitting to the Department a statement indicating the name, Work and date of commencement of the Work of the Juvenile.
- 2- Posting up in a prominent place in the workplace a clear statement indicating the working hours for the Juveniles he is employing and their rest periods.

Chapter Nine

Employment of Women

Article (93)

A working woman shall be paid a Wage equivalent to the Wage of the working man when she carries out the same Work and she shall have the same training opportunities and promotion.

Article (94)

It is prohibited to assign women to work in dangerous or strenuous Works, or in Works harmful to their health, morals or other Works specified by a decision from the Minister.

Article (95)

Women shall not be employed at times otherwise than the times specified by a decision from the Minister.

Article (96)

The female Worker who has been working for an Employer for a complete year shall be entitled to maternity leave with full pay for a period of fifty days, including the period before and after the delivery, provided that the period following the delivery shall not be less than thirty-five days.

Such leave shall be granted upon a medical certificate issued by a Licensed Physician stating the potential date of delivery.

If the remaining period of the leave after delivery is less than thirty days, the female Worker may be granted a complementary leave from her annual leave, otherwise, the complementary period shall be deemed to be a leave without pay.

Where the medical condition prevents the female Worker from resuming her Work after expiry of her leave mentioned in the previous paragraphs, the female Worker shall be deemed to be on leave without pay, provided that the period of her interruption of Works shall not be more than sixty successive or intermittent days, and provided that a medical certificate of her medical condition issued by a Licensed Physician is submitted.

The obtaining of the delivery leave shall not prejudice the working woman's entitlement to her other leaves.

Article (97)

The lactating Worker shall be entitled, in addition to her entitlement to the rest interval set out in Article (73) of this Law, to be granted a lactation period of one hour a day for a period of year starting after the expiration of the maternity leave, and it shall be for the female Worker to specify the lactation timing.

The lactation period shall be calculated as part of the working hours and shall not result in any reduction of Wage.

Article (98)

The Employer shall not terminate the Employment Contract of a female Worker because of her marriage or because of obtaining the leave set out in Article (96) of this Law.

The Employer shall not notify her of the termination of the Employment Contract thereof during such leave or send her a notification which expires in the course of which.

Chapter Ten

Safety, Occupational Health and Social Care

Article (99)

The Employer or his representative shall inform every Worker of the dangers of his respective Work, at the time of commencement of the service, and what might arise therefrom, and get him to know the means of prevention thereof. The Employer shall also post the respective detailed instructions pertaining to the means of occupational health and safety in a prominent place to protect the Workers from the dangers they are exposed to while carrying out their Work.

Article (100)

The Employer shall take the necessary precautions to protect the Workers while working from any injury or disease that may result from the Works performed in the Establishment thereof or from any accident, defect or breakdown in the machinery and equipment therein or from fire.

The Employer shall not charge his Workers with or deduct from their Wages any amount in return for providing these precautions.

The Department shall, in case the Employer refuses to take the precautions referred to or in case there is an imminent danger threatening the health or safety of the Workers, report the matter to the Minister to issue a decision for the partial or total closure of the workplace or stoppage of one or more machines from Work until the causes of the danger cease to exist. In this case, the Employer shall be committed to paying the Wages of the Workers in full during the period of closure or stoppage.

Article (101)

It is prohibited for the Workers to take or refrain from taking any action with the intention of hindering the execution of the instructions of the Employer regarding the preservation of the health of the Workers or securing their safety or with the intention of damaging or breaking down of any appliances or equipment prepared for such purpose.

The Worker shall use the protection devices and the clothing prepared therefor which were provided to him by the Employer and he shall comply by all the instructions of the Employer which aim at protecting him from injuries and diseases.

Article (102)

The Minister shall, after coordinating with the competent authority, issue the necessary decisions for regulating the appliances concerning the occupational health and safety in the Establishments and specifying and regulating the services, and the necessary precautionary measures for protecting the Workers during the Work from the dangers of the Work, equipment, their means and levels, and for the regulation of the means of protection from the occupational diseases.

Article (103)

The Employer shall take the measures that ensure the hygiene and ventilation in the workplaces and shall provide it with the suitable lighting and drinkable water, hygiene and drainage, in accordance with the regulations and decisions to be issued by the competent authorities in this respect.

Article (104)

The Employer who employs a number of Workers ranging from five to twenty-five shall prepare for them a first aid box furnished with the medicines, tools and equipment to be specified by the Competent Medical Authority. The box shall be kept in a prominent place in the Establishment and shall be accessible to the Workers. The use of the box shall be entrusted to a Worker trained in providing first-aid medical services.

If the number of the Workers exceeds twenty-five Workers, a box shall be designated for every group of Workers ranging from five to twenty-five Workers, and if the number of the Workers exceeds a hundred Workers in the Establishment, the Employer shall appoint a full-time medical nurse in the Establishment in addition to providing the first-aid boxes.

If the number of the Workers exceeds five hundred workers, the Employer shall have a clinic allocated to them with at least a physician and a nurse.

Article (105)

The periodical check-ups shall be carried out on the Workers exposed to the dangers of getting the occupational diseases in the different activities at intervals that are in conformity with the hazard of the profession, in accordance with the controls to be specified by the competent authorities that specify therein the types of such check-ups and the intervals during which they shall be carried out.

The Employer shall keep the results of such check-ups in files respective to the Workers.

If the medical check-up reveals that the Worker gets any of the occupational diseases, the Employer shall notify the Department thereof within three days from the date of his becoming aware of the result of the check-up.

Article (106)

The Employer who employs Workers in remote areas from the cities and such areas are not reachable by the usual means of transportation shall provide them with the following services:

- 1- Suitable means of transportation or suitable accommodation, or both.

Such areas shall be specified by a Decision from the Minister.

Article (107)

The Employer employing fifty Workers or more shall provide them with the social services which shall be specified by a Decision from the Minister with taking into consideration the area of the Work and the conditions thereof, and the number of the Workers in the Establishment.

Chapter Eleven

Work Injuries and the Compensation thereof

Article (108)

If the Worker dies while working or because of the Work, or he sustains a Work injury, the Employer or the acting person shall immediately report the incident to the police and the Department.

The report shall include the name, age, profession, address and nationality of the Worker, and a brief description of the incident, the circumstances thereof, and the procedures taken for the rescue and treatment thereof.

Upon the receipt of the report, The police shall conduct the necessary investigation, and the statements of the witnesses and the Employer or his representative, and the statements of the injured Worker if his condition allows that. The report shall also explain in particular the link of the incident with the Work.

Upon the completion of the investigation, the police shall send a copy of the report to the Department and another to the Employer. The Department may ask for the completion of the investigation if it deems necessary.

Article (109)

The Worker who sustains a Work injury shall be entitled to receive medical treatment appropriate to his condition at the expense of the Employer and as decided by the Competent Medical Authority.

The Worker shall receive his full Wage during the treatment period or during the period of six months, whichever is nearer. If the treatment continues for a period exceeding six months, the Worker shall be paid half of his full Wage until his recovery or he shall prove his permanent incapacitation, whichever is nearer.

Article (110)

The heirs of the Worker who deceases because of the Work, and the Worker who sustains a work injury leading to a partial or total permanent incapacitation shall be entitled to receive compensation. Such compensation in case of death of the Worker because of the Work shall be calculated in accordance with the provisions of Islamic Laws, and the Work injury leading to a total permanent incapacitation shall be considered as death.

The proportion of the partial permanent incapacitation to the total permanent incapacitation shall be specified in accordance with the schedule No. (2) attached to this Law. The amount of compensation, in this case, shall be calculated on the basis of such proportion from the amount of compensation set out in the previous paragraph.

Article (111)

The provisions of the preceding two Articles shall not apply if any of the following has been proved:

- 1- The Worker intentionally injures himself.
- 2- The Worker is at the time of occurrence of the injury or death under the influence of a drug or liquor and that the said influence is the cause of the injury or death.
- 3- The Worker intentionally contravenes the instructions of the Employer concerning the preservation of occupational health or safety or commits a gross negligence in the implementation of such instructions.
- 4- If the Worker without a reasonable cause refuses to conduct the check-up or follow the treatment prescribed by the Competent Medical Authority.

Article (112)

If a dispute arises between the Worker and the Employer as to the extent of ability of the Worker to resume the Work or as any other medical matter related to the injury, disease, or the prescribed or ongoing treatment, the Department must refer the matter to the Competent Medical Authority, and the decision thereof on the matters falling within its functional competence shall be final.

Article (113)

The right of the Worker to claim compensation for the incapacitation or death shall lapse by the lapse of one year from the date of the final medical report containing the occurrence of the incapacitation resulting from the injury or the confirmation of the occurrence of the incapacitation because of any of the occupational diseases listed in the schedule No.(1) attached to this Law or from the date of the death of the Worker.

Article (114)

The Employer shall pay the compensation for the incapacitation within a period not exceeding fifteen days from the date of the establishment of the incapacitation of the Worker or from the date of announcement of the result of the investigations supporting the occurrence of the incapacitation because of the Work.

The Employer shall deposit the compensation for the death with the treasury of the competent court within a period not exceeding fifteen days from the date of death or from the date of announcement of the result of the investigations supporting the occurrence of the death because of the Work. The court shall distribute the compensation for death amongst the heirs of the deceased in accordance with the provisions of the Islamic Laws or the Personal Status Law applied in the country of the deceased. The compensation shall be transferred to the public treasury of the State if three years have elapsed without specifying the persons entitled thereto.

Article (115)

The Employer shall provide the Department with statistics on the Work injuries and occupational diseases every six months in accordance with the forms prepared for such purpose and in conformity with the procedures specified in a Decision issued by the Minister.

Chapter Eleven bis⁽¹⁾

Adjudication on the Individual Labour Disputes

Article (115 bis)

If a dispute arises between the Worker and the Employer regarding the application of the provisions of this Law or the Employment Contract, the dispute shall be presented to the Department of Labour Relations or the National Human Resources Development Department of the Ministry, as the case may be, to settle the dispute amicably.

The competent department shall take the necessary procedures to settle the dispute amicably within a period not exceeding seven days from the date of its presentation thereto. The result of the settlement shall be presented to the parties within the next seven days. If accepted by both parties, their agreement shall be established in a report signed by both of them, and it shall be approved by the competent department and the report has the power of a writ of execution.

If the dispute is not settled within the period referred to in the preceding paragraph, or one of the two parties of dispute refuses the settlement of the competent department, or if the period elapses and no party or both of them express his/their opinion of acceptance or rejection, the competent department shall refer the dispute within the following three working days to the Labour Dispute Settlement Committee, and the referral shall be accompanied with a memorandum including a summary of the dispute subject and the arguments of the two parties, their documents and the observations of the competent department, and the secretariat of the committee shall within three working days from the date of referring the dispute thereto set a session to consider the dispute not later than seven working days from the referral date. The Worker and the Employer shall be notified of the date of the session at least three days in advance.

The submission of the application for settlement of the dispute to the competent department shall result in the suspension of the period prescribed by Law for the lapse of the claim for such rights until the expiration of the dates specified in this Article.

(1) Chapter eleven bis including Articles from 115 bis to 117 bis /7 is added upon the Law No. (13) of 2017.

Article (115 bis \1)

A committee or more shall be established in the Ministry called “Labour Dispute Settlement Committee”, which shall be chaired by a judge from the preliminary court chosen by the Supreme Judiciary Council and the membership of two members nominated by the Minister, provided that one of them shall be experienced in the field of accounting.

A decision issued by the Council of Ministers shall form the committee and determine the rules and procedures to be followed before it, and the mechanism for implementing its decisions and rewards.

A decision shall be issued by the Minister to specify the place of the committee’s meeting.

The secretariat of the committee shall be undertaken by an employee or more of the Ministry’s employees, and a decision shall be issued by the Minister in order to delegate them and specify the competences and rewards thereof.

Article (115 bis \2)

The Committee shall have the exclusive jurisdiction over all disputes arising out of the application of the provisions of this Law or the Employment Contract.

The Committee shall only decide on the dispute submitted before it within three weeks from the date of the first session of considering the dispute before it.

The members of the Committee shall be independent and there shall be no authority over them in their decisions except that of the law, and no one or any entity shall intervene in the disputes considered by the Committee.

Article (115 bis\3)

The secretariat of the Committee shall undertake the notification of the two parties to the dispute of the procedures and decisions issued by the Committee to their places of residence or headquarters by a registered letter or by any other knowledge-proving means.

The notification shall be considered as legally enforceable as of the date of notification or delivery thereof to the concerned parties.

Article (115 bis\4)

The decision of the committee that the dispute ends with before it shall be reasoned and shall include the names of the chairman and the two members of the committee, the date and place of its issuance, the names of the litigants and their capacities, their presence or absence, a presentation of the overall facts of the dispute, the demands of the litigants and their defenses, and it shall be signed by the chairman and the secretary. It shall have the power of a writ of execution stipulated in Article (362) of the Civil and Commercial Procedures Law referred to.

The decision draft, including its reasons, shall be signed by the Chairman of the Committee and its two members when the decision is pronounced, otherwise, it shall be deemed null and void.

The provisions of the Civil and Commercial Procedures Law referred to shall be applicable on the proceedings before the Labour Disputes Settlement Committee and the decisions issued by it, unless no specific provision is mentioned in this law.

Article (115 bis \5)

Decisions of the Committee shall be covered with expedited enforceability.

Article (115 bis \6)

Any concerned person is entitled to challenge the decision of the Labour Disputes Settlement Committee before the competent circuit of the Court of Appeal within fifteen days from the date of the issuance of the decision of the committee if it is in presence thereof or from the day following the announcement of the decision if the decision is in absentia. The challenge of the decision shall not lead to the suspension of the execution of the decision, unless the competent circuit decides otherwise.

The competent circuit in the Court of Appeal shall promptly consider the challenge, and it shall decide thereon within thirty days from the date of the first session before it.

Only the competent circuit of the Court of Appeal shall suspend the implementation of the decisions of the Committee.

Article (115 bis \7)

The claims under the jurisdiction of the Labour Dispute Settlement Committee shall not be admitted by the court before such committee adjudicates thereon.

The courts shall continue to adjudicate on the claims submitted before them before the enforceability date of this Law and they have the jurisdiction of considering the claims filed after the date of its enforceability, until the committee carries out its jurisdiction provided for therein.

No. (4) of 2015
on the Regulations of Wage Protection System
(WPS)
of Workers Subject to Labour Law

Minister of Labour and Social Affairs Decision No. (4) of 2015 on the Regulations of Wage Protection System (WPS)
of Workers Subject to Labour Law

The Minister of Labour and Social Affairs

After having perused the Labour Law Promulgated by Law No. (14) of 2004 and the amending laws thereof,

Emiri Decree No. (29) of 1996 regarding the Laws of the Council of Ministers that are submitted to the Emir for ratification and issuance,

Emiri Decree No (29) of 2014 regarding the organizational structure of the Ministry of Labour and social affairs, and

Adoption of the draft of this Decision by the Council of Ministers in the second ordinary meeting of 2015 held on 14/1/2015,

Has decided the following:

Article (1)

The Work Inspection Department in the Ministry of Labour and Social Affairs shall take the necessary actions to implement the Wage Protection System (WPS) of workers subjected to the Labour Law referred to herein.

The System aims to ensure that the employers fulfill their commitments to pay the wages of workers subjected to the Labour Law, referred to, on the dates specified, and in accordance with their employment contracts and the applicable systems in the state.

Article (2)

The Employers are committed to transfer their workers' wages at the financial institutes in the State, within seven days from its due date, through the Wage Protection System (WPS).

Article (3)

Work Inspection Department of the Ministry of Labour and Social Affairs may request a detailed report from the Employer, in accordance with the model prepared by the Department and adopted by the Minister; for the Employer to prove paying the wages of its workers, at the period specified by the Department.

Article (4)

The Minister or his deputy may take either of the following two procedures against the Employer who violates the provision of the Article (2) of this Decision:

1- Suspension of granting any new work permits.

2- Suspension of all his transactions with the ministry; nevertheless, such suspension shall not include the ratification of Employment Contracts.

The suspension may be ended by a decision, issued by the Minister or his deputy, upon a proof submitted by the Employer, proves that he has transferred all arrears wages.

Article (5)

All competent authorities, each within its own competence, shall implement this Decision, and shall come into force on the day following the date of its publication in the Official Gazette.

Law No. (15) of 2017
On Domestic Workers

Law No. (15) of 2017
On Domestic Workers

We, Tamim Bin Hamad Al-Thani,

Emir of the State of Qatar,

After having perused the Constitution,

The Civil and Commercial Procedure Law promulgated by Law No. (13) of 1990, and its amending laws thereof,

The Labour Law promulgated by Law No. (14) of 2004, and the amending laws thereof,

Law No. (21) of 2015 on Regulating Expatriates' Entry, Exit and Residency, as amended by Law No. (1) of 2017,

The proposal of the Minister of Administrative Development, Labour and Social Affairs, and

The draft law submitted by the Council of Ministers, and

After having consulted the Shura Council,

Have decided the following Law:

Article (1)

In the implementation of the provisions of this Law, the following words and phrases shall have the meanings assigned to them respectively, unless the context otherwise requires:

The Ministry : The Ministry of Administrative Development, Labour and Social Affairs.

The Minister : The Minister of Administrative Development, Labour and Social Affairs.

The Department: The competent administrative unit at the Ministry.

The Employer : The natural person who employs a worker.

The Worker : The natural person who performs works under the management and supervision of the Employer in return for a wage, such as a driver, nursemaid, cook, gardener and equivalent categories.

The Domestic Works: The works carried out by the Worker for the Employer or the residents therewith.

The Employment Contract: The agreement between the Employer and the Worker by virtue of which the Worker shall be committed to perform Domestic Works assigned to him by the Employer in return for a wage.

The Wage : The cash amount paid by the Employer to the Worker in return for the work he/she performed.

Article (2)

The provisions established in respect to expatriate workers shall apply to the recruitment of domestic workers, their medical examination and permitting their residency in a way that does not contradict with the provisions of this Law.

Article (3)

The Worker shall not be employed without an Employment Contract written and ratified by the Department and issued in three copies: one to be handed to each party and a third to be kept at the Department. The Employment Contract shall be written in Arabic language, and a translation thereof in another language may be attached. In case of discrepancies between both texts, the text written in Arabic shall prevail.

The Employment Contract shall specify the provisions of the work relationship between its both parties, and shall particularly include the following data:

- 1- Employer's name, nationality and place of residence.
- 2- Worker's name, nationality and place of residence.
- 3- Date of conclusion of contract.
- 4- Type and nature of work assigned to a Worker.
- 5- Commencement date of work and probation period.
- 6- Duration of contract and terms of renewal and termination.
- 7- Wage agreed upon, method and date of payment.
- 8- Any provisions or data stipulated by this Law.

Article (4)

Workers shall be recruited by one of the licensed recruitment offices in accordance with the provisions of the Labour Law referred to. As an exception, the Employer or his/her representative may recruit workers from abroad for his/her own benefit after the Department's approval.

Article (5)

It is prohibited to recruit or employ workers of both genders under the age of eighteen or over the age of sixty.

The Minister or his deputy shall be entitled to grant exemptions as to maximum age limit.

Article (6)

The Worker shall be subject to a paid probation period, the duration and controls of which shall be determined by a decision from the Minister.

Article (7)

The Employer shall be committed to the following:

- 1- Providing the domestic worker with proper food and housing, appropriate health care, medications and medical supplies in case of sickness or injury during or due to work, without imposing any

- financial burden on the worker.
- 2- Treating the domestic worker well in a manner that preserves his/her dignity and physical integrity.
 - 3- Refraining from putting the worker's life or health in danger or inflicting any kind of physical or psychological harm on him/her.
 - 4- Not employing the Worker during his/her sick leave.
 - 5- Not employing the Worker during his/her daily rest periods or weekly leaves unless otherwise agreed on by the two parties.

Article (8)

The Employer shall be committed to paying the Worker his/her agreed monthly wage in Qatari currency at the end of each Gregorian month, and not later than the third day of the next month.

The Employer's liability shall not be discharged from the Worker's wage unless he/she proves that he has deposited the wage in the Worker's bank account or has handed him/her the wage in cash by virtue of a clearance signed by the Worker, stating that he/she has received the full wage.

The Employer shall be prohibited from deducting any fees, charges or expenses from the Worker's due wage in return for the procedures of bringing him/her to the State.

Article (9)

The Employer shall be prohibited from employing the Worker abroad without his/her consent. In case it has been proven, the Worker may terminate his/her Employment Contract before the expiry of its duration and while retaining his/her full right to an end-of-service gratuity. The Worker is further entitled to being returned to his/her home country or place of residence at the Employer's expense.

Article (10)

If a Worker dies, the Employer shall bear the costs of processing and transporting his/her corpse to his/her home country or place of residence if the Worker's family so requested.

If the Employer does not transport the Worker's corpse after his/her death, the Department shall do so at the Employer's expense, and shall retrieve expenditures in this regard through administrative procedures.

The Employer shall deposit all the Worker's dues, including the Worker's end-of-service gratuity, with the Department treasury during a period of no more than fifteen days as of the day of his knowledge of the Worker's death, provided that the deposit minutes shall include a detailed report stating the calculation method of the amounts referred to.

The competent court shall distribute the deposited amounts among the deceased Worker's heirs in accordance with Islamic Sharia provisions or the Personal Status Law applicable in the deceased Worker's home country. If three years have elapsed since the date of deposit without the person deserving the due amounts being known, the court shall transfer these amounts to the State Public Treasury.

Article (11)

The Worker shall be committed to the following:

- 1 - Respecting the State's laws, customs, social traditions and religious and moral values.
- 2 - Performing the work agreed upon, and any other works of its requirements, by himself, accurately and honestly.
- 3 - Preserving the secrets, money and property of the Employer, his residents and visitors, and refrain from harming their interests, with due care and concern.
- 4 - Executing the instructions and orders of the Employer and his residents in the best manner unless they violate the law or the Employment Contract, or endanger his/her own life or money, or the life or money of others.
- 5 - Maintaining the things he/she receives to do his/her work, using them for their purpose, according to the nature of use, and returning them to the Employer at the end of his service.

- 6 – Refraining from paid or unpaid work for others in violation of provisions of the law or regulations applicable in the State.
- 7 – Treating the Employer, his family and the residents with him well, and refraining from abusing them, especially children and the elderly among them.

Article (12)

Maximum working hours shall be ten hours per day, unless otherwise agreed on, intermitting by breaks for worshipping, resting and having meals. These breaks shall not be included in the calculation of working hours.

Article (13)

The Worker shall be entitled to a weekly paid leave of not less than twenty-four consecutive hours. Date of the weekly leave shall be determined in accordance with what the two parties agreed upon in the Employment Contract.

Article (14)

For every Gregorian year in service, the Worker shall be entitled to an annual paid leave of three weeks. Unless otherwise agreed without prejudice to the Worker's interest, he/she may divide it and may choose the date and place of spending thereof.

For every two years of service, the Worker shall be entitled a flight ticket to his/her country of origin or place of residence to spend his/her entire due leave or the remaining part of it. In case of final exit, he/she shall be entitled to only a return ticket to his/her country of origin or place of residence.

Article (15)

In addition to any amounts due to the Worker at the end of his/her term of service, the Employer shall pay an end-of-service gratuity to the Worker who has been employed for a period of one full year or more as of the effective date of this Law. The gratuity shall be determined and agreed by both parties, provided it is not less than a three-week-pay for each year of service. The Worker is further entitled to get a gratuity for fractions of the year based on the entire duration of service proportionately.

The Employer shall be entitled to deduct from the gratuity the amounts the Worker owes to the Employee.

Article (16)

The Employer may dismiss the Worker without notice and without granting him end-of-service gratuity for the year in which he is dismissed in case the Worker breaches his/her obligations under the provisions of this Law or the Employment Contract.

Article (17)

The Worker may terminate the Employment Contract before the expiry of its term while keeping his/her full right to an end-of- service gratuity in any of the following cases:

- 1- When the Employer breaches his/her obligations under the provisions of this Law or the Employment Contract.
- 2- When the Employer or his/her representative deceives the Worker in relation to terms of employment at the time of conclusion of the contract.
- 3- When the Employer or one of the members of his/her family assaults the Worker in a manner that affects his/her body or life.
- 4- When a serious danger threatens the safety or health of the Worker, provided that the Employer is aware of such danger and has done nothing to eliminate it.

Article (18)

Disputes arising between the Employer and the Worker, which are related to the application of the provisions of this Law or the Employment Contract, shall be subjected to the provisions of Chapter “Eleven bis” of the Labour Law referred to.

Article (19)

The Worker’s compensation for work injuries shall be in accordance with the provisions of Labour Law referred to.

Article (20)

The lawsuit which claims rights arising from the provisions of this Law, or the Employment Contract, shall be dropped by the lapse of one year from the date of expiry or termination of the contract due to any reason or leaving the work.

Article (21)

Without prejudice to any more severe penalty stipulated by any other law,

1- Whoever violates any of the provisions of Articles (3 First paragraph), (4), (7), (9), (12), (13), (14) and (15) of this Law shall be punished by a fine not exceeding (5,000) five thousand Riyals.

2- Whoever violates any of the provisions of Articles (5) and (8) of this Law shall be punished by a fine not exceeding (10,000) ten thousand Riyals.

Article (22)

All those addressed by the provisions of this Law shall adjust their statuses in accordance with its provisions, within six months as of the date it takes effect. The Minister may extend this period for another similar period.

Article (23)

The Minister shall issue the decisions necessary for the implementation of the provisions of this Law.

Article (24)

All competent authorities, each within its own competence, shall implement this Law. It shall be published in the Official Gazette.

Laws Related to the Labour Law

Law No. 13 of 2017
on Amending Some Provisions of the Labour Law Promulgated by Law
No. (14) 2004 and Law No. (13) of 1990 on Promulgating
Civil and Commercial Procedure Code

We, Tamim Bin Hamad Al-Thani, Emir of the State of Qatar,

After having perused the Constitution,

Law No. (13) of 1990 to enact the Civil and Commercial Procedure Code, and the amending laws thereof,

The Labour Law promulgated by Law No. (14) of 2004, and the amending laws thereof,

The Proposal of the Minister of Administrative Development, Labour and Social Affairs, and

The draft law submitted by the Council of Ministries; and

After having consulted the Shura Council,

Have decided the following Law:

Article (1)

The text of Article (2) of the Law No. (14) of 2004 referred to, shall be replaced with the following text:

“The Minister of Administrative Development, Labour and Social Affairs shall, in coordination with the competent authorities, issue the necessary decisions to implement the provisions of the attached Law. The applicable decisions shall continue to be enforced unless being in contradiction with any provision hereof.

Article (2)

The text of the two Articles (1/items 1, 2 and 21) and (64) of the referred Labour Law are hereby replaced with the following two texts:

Article (1/items 1, 2 and 21):

- 1- The Ministry: The Ministry of Administrative Development, Labour and Social Affairs
- 2- The Minister: The Minister of Administrative Development, Labour and Social Affairs
- 21- The Competent Medical Authority: The authority designated by the Ministry of Public Health

Article (64)

A Worker shall, before appealing to the Labour Disputes Committee, raise his grievance to his Employer against the sanction imposed on him within seven days from the date of having learned thereof. The grievance shall be considered within seven days of its raising and shall be rejected if this period elapses without taking any action.

In case the grievance was rejected, or if it is not decided upon within the period referred to, the Worker may raise his grievance to the Department against the sanction imposed on him within seven days from the date of rejection.

The Department shall decide on the worker's grievance within seven days from the date of the raising of the grievance. The Department's decision shall be final. A lapse of such period without deciding on the grievance, shall be considered as a rejection thereof.

As an exception to that, the Worker may appeal against the sanction of dismissal from work to the Labour Disputes Settlement Committee.

If the Committee finds out that the dismissal of the Worker is unfair or contravening to the provisions of this Law, the Committee shall decide either to cancel the dismissal, to restate the Worker in his work and his entitlement to his wages for the period he was not allowed to work as an implementation of such sanction, or compensate the Worker by a proper compensation. Such compensation shall include the wages and other benefits of which he was deprived because of such dismissal.

Article (3)

A new chapter, named “Chapter Eleven / bis - Adjudication on the individual labour disputes” shall be added to the labour Law referred to, the texts of which are as follows:

Article (115 bis)

If a dispute arises between the Worker and the Employer regarding the application of the provisions of this Law or the Employment Contract, each of them shall present the dispute to the Department of Labour Relations or the National Human Resources Development Department of the Ministry, as the case may be, to settle the dispute amicably.

The competent department shall take the necessary procedures to settle the dispute amicably within a period not exceeding seven days from the date it is presented thereto. The result of the settlement shall be presented to the parties within the next seven days. If accepted by both parties, what they agreed upon shall be proven in a minutes signed by both parties and shall be approved by the competent department and the minutes shall have the power of a writ of execution.

If the dispute is not settled within the period referred to in the preceding paragraph, or one of the two parties of dispute refuses the settlement of the competent department, or if the period has expired without one of the parties or both of them expressing his/their opinion of acceptance or rejection, the competent department shall refer the dispute within the following three working days to Labour Dispute Settlement Committee, and the referral shall be submitted with a memorandum including a summary for the dispute subject and arguments of the two parties, their documents and notices of the competent department, and the secretariat of the committee shall, within three working days of the date of referring the dispute to it, set a hearing session for consider the dispute not later than seven working days from the referral date. The Worker and the Employer shall be notified of the date of the hearing session at least three days in advance.

The submission of a dispute settlement application to the competent department shall result in the suspension of the period legally prescribed for the claim for such rights until the lapse of the dates specified in this Article.

Article (115 bis/1)

“A committee or more shall be established in the Ministry, called Labour Dispute Settlement Committee, which shall be formed by chairmanship of a judge from the Preliminary Court chosen by the Supreme Judiciary Council and by membership of two persons nominated by the Minister, provided that one of them shall be from those with expertise in the field of accounting.

A decision shall be issued by the Council of Ministers on forming the committee and specifying the rules and procedures that must be followed before it, and the mechanism for implementing its decisions and remunerations.

Appendix (III)
Previous Articles before the Amendment and the Repealed Article

Article (2)

The Minister of Labour shall issue, in coordination with competent authorities, the necessary resolutions to execute the provisions of the attached Law. Until these resolutions are issued, working with applicable resolutions shall be continued while there is no contradiction with its provisions.

Article (1)

In implementing the provisions of this Law, the following words and phrases shall have the meanings assigned thereto, unless the context requires otherwise:

- 1- The Ministry: The Ministry of Labour and Social Affairs.
- 2- The Minister: The Minister of Labour and Social Affairs.
- 3- The Competent Medical Authority: The authority specified by the Supreme Council of Health.

Article (3)

Unless otherwise specifically stated, the provisions of this Law shall not apply to the following categories:

- 1- The employees and workers who work for ministries, other governmental bodies, public authorities and institutions, the companies Qatar Petroleum establishes, or participates in establishing thereof, or holds shares therein, and the workers who work for companies involved in implementing the agreement of exploration and production, the agreements of field developments and production sharing, and the agreement of joint ventures in the field of petroleum processes and petrochemicals industries, as well as those whose employment affairs are regulated by special laws.

Article (37)

Fees shall be imposed on the following:

- 1- Granting, renewing and replacing the work permits.
- 2- Granting, renewing and replacing the license for practicing the profession of recruiting Workers from abroad.
- 3- Ratification of seals of companies and institutions, Employment Contract, certificates and other documents that the Ministry ratifies.

Determination of these fees and the cases of exemptions thereof shall be issued by a decision from the Council of Ministers.

Article (64)

A Worker shall, before appealing to the competent court, raise his grievance to his Employer against the sanction imposed on him within seven days of having learned thereof. The grievance shall be considered within seven days of its raising and shall be rejected if this period elapses without taking any action.

In case the grievance was rejected, or it is not decided upon within the period referred to, the Worker may raise his grievance to the Department against the sanction imposed on him within seven days from the date of rejection.

The Department shall decide on the worker's grievance within seven days from the date of the raising of the grievance. The Department's decision shall be final. Elapse of such period without deciding on the grievance, shall be considered as a rejection thereof.

As an exception to that, the Worker may appeal against the sanction of dismissal from work to the competent court.

If the court finds out that the dismissal of the Worker is unfair or contravening to the provisions of this Law, it shall decide either to cancel the dismissal, to restate the Worker in his work and his entitlement to his Wage for the period he was not allowed to work as an implementation of such sanction or compensate the Worker by a proper compensation. Such compensation shall include the Wages and other benefits of which he was deprived because of this dismissal.

Article (66)

The Wages and other amounts the Worker entitled to shall be paid in the Qatari currency.

The Wages of those workers appointed on a monthly or an annual Wage basis shall be paid at least once a month. The Wages of all other workers shall be paid at least once every two weeks.

The Wage shall be paid to the Worker himself, at one of working days, and during his hours, in his normal location or in any other location approved by the Department. It may be transferred to the Worker's bank account that is approved by the two parties or pay it to the delegate appointed by the Worker in writing.

The Employer's liability shall not be discharged from the Worker's Wage, unless he actually transfers it to the bank or the Worker or his representative signs what states his receipt of the Wage in the register set up for that or on the receipt set up for such purpose, provided that such data shall include particulars of the Wage.

Article (126/Item 7) (Repealed Article)

7- Considering individual and collective disputes and attempting to settle them amicably.
